How we identify and assess needs

How will you know if my child or young person needs extra help? (IRR)

Initially, the SENCo, Transition Coordinator or one of the SEND Team will liaise with, and gather information from, parents, pupils, primary schools and any other relevant agencies during year 6. This will be shared with teachers and learning support assistants. On entry we will assess each pupil's current skills and levels of attainment, which will build on information from previous settings and Key Stages. Class teachers will make regular assessments of progress for all pupils and identify those whose progress:

- Is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
  - Fails to match or better the child's previous rate of progress
  - Fails to close the attainment gap between the child and their peers
  - Widens the attainment gap
- This may include progress in areas other than attainment, for example, social needs.

Slow progress and low attainment will not automatically mean a pupil is recorded as having SEND.

When deciding whether special educational provision is required, we will start with the desired outcomes, including the expected progress and attainment, and the views and the wishes of the pupil and their parents. We will use this to determine the support that is needed and whether we can provide it by adapting our core offer, or whether something, distinct, different, or additional is needed.

Once on roll, information will be gathered from teachers and learning support assistants. A range of standardised tests may be used to establish strengths and areas for development.

Initially students may be placed on the SEND monitoring list. This allows us to put intervention in place, monitor its effectiveness and further assess the student's needs.

If a student is then deemed to need something, distinct, different, or additional, they will be placed on the SEND Register at SEND Support (K).

Those students who are in receipt of an Education Health Care Plan will automatically be placed on the SEND register (E)

How we identify and assess needs

We will have an early discussion with the pupil and their parents to identify what special educational provision may be required. These conversations will make sure that:

- Everyone develops a good understanding of the pupil's areas of strength and difficulty
- Parents' concerns are always considered
- Everyone understands the agreed outcomes sought for the child
- Everyone is clear on what the next steps are
- We will notify parents if it is decided that a pupil will receive SEND support.

Parents, students and keyworkers will co-produce a student profile. This identifies strengths, difficulties, what the student can do to help themselves, what resources they may need and a range of strategies for teachers and learning support assistants to use.

What should I do if I think my child or young person needs extra help?

Should you wish to raise a concern with regards to your child or young person please consider the guidance below

Teaching, Learning and Support

How will you teach and support my child or young person with SEND? (IRR)

The SEND Code of Practice is followed, and teachers know that they are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all the pupils in their class. As recommended within the Code of Practice, 'High quality teaching is always the first step in responding to pupils who have SEND and this will be differentiated for individual pupils'.

In addition, Abbot Beyne School promotes the recommendations made by the Education Endowment Foundation (EEF) in their support and teaching of students with SEND. See link below

https://d2tic4wvo1iusb.cloudfront.net/guidance-reports/send/EEF\_Special\_Educational\_Needs\_in\_Mainstream\_Schools\_Guidance\_Report.pdf

A wide range of personalised intervention, both in and out of the classroom to support identified need, is put in place at the earliest opportunity. All intervention is evidence led and research based following guidance from the Staffordshire Graduated Response Toolbox in response to need or the EEF. This includes, additional teacher-led, modelling, scaffolding and adaptive teaching methods within the classroom alongside a range of out of class intervention.

How will the curriculum and learning environment be matched to my child or young person’s needs? (IRR)

At Abbot Beyne School we strive to ensure that the curriculum is successfully adapted to be ambitious and to meet the needs of our students with SEND. We aim to develop their knowledge, skills and abilities to allow them to apply what they know and can demonstrate this with increasing fluency and independence.

- Abbot Beyne School strives to offer all students a Dyslexia, Autism, Attention Deficit, communication friendly environment
- The curriculum is differentiated to ensure all pupils are able to access it, for example, by grouping, 1:1 work, learning style, resources, digital support, and content of the lesson or support from additional adults
- We personalize the curriculum by offering Prince’s Trust Achieve Awards
- A reduced timetable for a short time to allow a student to settle or become accustomed to change can be offered
- We adapt our resources and staffing to accommodate student’s needs

Teaching, Learning and Support

How will the curriculum and learning environment be matched to my child or young person's needs?

The Curriculum – is continually monitored by the Senior Leadership Team together with the Curriculum Leads to ensure that it meets the needs of all. If required, the curriculum is personalised to accommodate more complex needs e.g. private study time, small group and 1-1 tuition and Prince's Trust Achievement awards

The Assistant Headteacher for Inclusion (SENCo) Mrs F Airey– is responsible for the co-ordination of SEND provision in school and for monitoring its efficacy.

The needs of students with SEND are met through Quality First Teaching within the classroom where teachers use a range of methods that includes:

Questioning – A wide range of open and closed questioning techniques are used to establish understanding and identify and correct misconceptions

Knowledge organisers- to provide reference to key information

Modelling – to provide differentiated worked examples

Chunking – instructions and work are broken down into manageable chunks

Scaffolding – to provide the small step guidance needed to achieve goals and objectives

Sentence starters/Cloze activities – are used to reduce the writing load

Seating Plans – Teachers give careful consideration to seating plans to ensure students can benefit from their peers

Access Arrangements for examinations and assessments – where required extra time, rest breaks, support for reading, support for writing and modified papers can be offered (this is dependent on agreement from the Joint Council for Qualifications)

Assistive Technology – this includes the use of IT and software to support reading and word processing

Learning Support Assistants – Work within some classes to support students to access and complete the work independently. They are deployed to provide continuity of support both from the pastoral and academic point.

Outside Agencies – Abbot Beyne School work closely with Autism Outreach, the Educational Psychology Service, Occupational and Physical Therapy Services, Hearing and Visual Impairment specialist Teachers and East Staffordshire Family Support

Where possible – the learning environment is adapted to meet the needs of our students – e.g. high visibility strips for our visually impaired students

Retrieval – to support memory and recall

Alternative Provision – Where students are currently unable to manage the school environment due to mental health or medical reasons they can have access to our remote learning provision – on Showbie. This allows them to access a curriculum, that is identical to the one that they would receive in school, from home or a private study room in school. This can include live lessons and provides a safeguarding element. (Medical evidence is required to access this provision)

A very small number of students also access an alternative provision for example, Pupil Referral Unit or Eagle's Nest. This is to accommodate significant social emotional differences.

Teaching, Learning and Support

How resources are allocated to meet children or young people's needs?

Students do not require an identification of a condition in order to receive support.

Abbot Beyne School endeavour to use The Notional SEND Budget to ensure all students on the SEND register, or those that are undergoing a period of monitoring, receive the support that they need. This money is not allocated to individual students and is used to fund the cost of Learning Support Assistants, interventions, and resources.

Those students with an EHCP receive the support specified in their individual plan and have a costed provision map detailing how the additional funds have been used.

How is the decision made about what type and how much support my child or young person will receive?

The SEND team work with the students, their parents, teachers, the pastoral team, learning support assistants and outside agencies to develop a support package. This is supported by classroom observations, learning walks, work scrutiny, assessments, evidence from classwork and formal standardised testing. Parents are always kept informed, their views are sought, gathered and included in this offer. Regular meetings and reviews to measure progress take place.

How will equipment and facilities to support children and young people with SEND be secured? (IRR)

The SEND Notional Budget and funding from our students with EHCPs is used to secure equipment and facilities. Students have access to technology, assistive software, coloured exercise books, coloured overlays, reading rulers etc. as needed.

How will you and I know how my child or young person is doing? (IRR)

The class or subject teacher will work with the SENCo and her team to carry out a clear analysis of the student's needs. This will draw on:

- The teacher's assessment and experience of the pupil
- Standardised assessment
- Their previous progress and attainment and behaviour
- The individual's development in comparison to their peers and national data
- The views and experience of parents
- The pupil's own views
- Advice from external support services, if relevant

The assessment will be reviewed regularly as required by individual students and their needs.

We will follow the graduated approach and the four-part cycle of assess, plan, do, review.

Teaching, Learning and Support

Meetings are held with parents as frequently as needed. Information is shared by phone calls, virtual meeting, or face to face meetings in school.

How will you help me to support their learning? (IRR)

It has been shown that where school, parents and students work in partnership, outcomes are positive. We therefore encourage our parents to be fully involved in the education and school life of their children. This includes monitoring via Bromcom, where this allows you to recognise and praise their merits or to support school if negative sanctions have had to be put in place.

Where possible we ask that students have a quiet place to complete homework and that you encourage and support them to do this. Sometimes our students with SEND need support to organise their work and books ready for the next day and we ask that you help them with this and to become independent young adults.

Reading and talking about a text alongside your child has huge benefits as can watching and talking about current affairs together. For more subject specific advice parents are advised to look at the information on our website or speak to the teachers

How do we consult with and involve children and young people with SEND in planning and reviewing their education? (IRR)

Students can see and monitor their progress via Bromcom

Assess, Plan, Do and Review documents are co-produced with students, parents, and the Assistant SENCo. Student voice is regularly gathered.

Students meet regularly with Learning Support Assistants

For those students with an EHCP their views are gathered more formally at the annual review

All students can join their parents at the parents' consultation meetings

Students attend their EHCP annual reviews

How do you assess and evaluate the effectiveness of provision for children and young people with SEND? (IRR)

We evaluate the effectiveness of provision for pupils with SEND by:

- Building positive relationships with students and monitoring their well being
- The class or subject teacher working with the SENCo and her team to carry out assessment
- Following the graduated approach and the four-part cycle of assess, plan, do, review
- Reviewing pupils' individual progress towards their goals
- Pupil voice
- Discussion with parents
